NUMB. 5073

MONDAY, JULY 22, 1745.

last arriv'd a Mail from Holland.

Peterburgh, July 2.

HE Diploma by which his Polish Majesty, as Elector of Saxony, and Vicar-General of the Holy Roman Empire, declares his Imperial Highness, as Duke of Tuscany, Major, was presented to him with great Ceremony on the 28th of last Month, by M. Perzold, his Polish Majesty's Resident.

Solemnization of the Marriage of their Imperial Highnesses has been proclaimed here by a Herald, with Kettle Drums, Trumpets, and a Detachment of Life Guards; and it is to be published in the Fleet from a Yacht of Ceremony, with the necessary Equipage and gilding for that Purpose. It is certain, and the Foreign Ministers resident here are apprized of it, that her Imperial Majesty has a strict and steady Neutrality during the Troubles in Europe. By the late Treaty concluded with Sweden, her Imperial Majesty stipulates to pay 400,000 Rubles. The Dutch Ambassador, M. de Dieu, has turned his Negotiation, of late, more acceptable to the Court than that of the Treaty of Warsaw, viz. a Treaty of Commerce; and the Propositions he has made upon that Subject have met with a very favourable Reception.

July 10. Since the Republick of Genoa has declared openly in Favour of the Spaniards, her Majesty has been entirely interdicted the Effects of the Genoeses, in all Places belonging to her Majesty, have been sequestered. General Marmont has exacted 100,000 Crowns from the Republick, and 8000 from the other Inhabitants of the City of Novi. His Excellency went on the 5th to the King of Sardinia at Alexandria, in concert with him the Operations of the ensuing Campaign, and particularly the Means of preserving the Town of Tortona, which are menaced with a Siege. The whole Austrian Army is at present in a strong Camp of St. Julian, between Tortona and Alexandria.

July 19. The Army of the Grand Duke being arrived on the 18th within a single March of that Prince, the Prince of Conti did not judge it proper to any longer the Passage of the Rhine. At One o'clock, accordingly, his Troops began to defile the two Bridges he had at Turkheim, which passed till One in the Afternoon; at which time the French began to fire that Part of their Bridge of Boats opposite Side of the Rhine, supposing that they had been able to have drawn the rest of the French to their Side; but a strong N. W. Wind arising, the Boats were carried into the Middle of the River, upon which they were forced to have Recourse to the Volunteers, who offer'd to swim on board, and on fire, which they did accordingly; but notwithstanding this Precaution, a great many Pontons were over the River, and were saved by the Austrians. The grand Army could not come up with the Prince of Conti, with his Irregulars, follow'd close, and did them incredible Mischief, killing several, and taking another Prisoner, and destroying several Hundred Men. Since that precipitate Retreat the Hussars have brought in 180 Mules laden with Baggage, to the Value of at least 200,000 Florins; it was impossible to sustain General Berenclau in the otherwise the French had been entirely undone. The French are now encamp'd behind the little Rivulet of the Rhine, having the City of Worms on the Right, and the Rhine on the Left. The Army of the Grand Duke is at Biebsheim, and it is uncertain whether they will pass the River in pursuit of the French, or wait there the Issue of the Dyet of Election. The French Officer, who commanded a Corps of 2000 Men in the Neighbourhood of W. inheim, has acquired a Reputation. He was thought to be entirely surprised; but ordering his Horse to advance towards the French, his Foot, in the mean time, passed the Rhine, with great Difficulty; and he afterwards marched with his Horse and Dragoons, without losing any, dispatch'd a Courier to the Baron de Reischach at the Hague, with Letters of very great Importance. The Contributions which the Province of Brabant are to pay to the French, are actually settled for one Month; those they have levied in the open Country are excessive. We have received the unexpected News that Oudenarde capitulated on the 21st; that the Garrison marched out with the Honours of War; but that they are not to serve against France before January 1, 1747. It is said that Dendermond is invested; but as Orders have been sent to lay the Country thereabouts under Water, and as we are sure those Orders will be observed, we conceive the Reduction of that Place must prove a Work of Time. The Earl of Crawford has been detached with 14 Squadrons, and four Field Pieces, towards Namur, to facilitate the March of four Austrian Regiments from thence to the Camp of the Allies.

Antwerp, July 21. His Royal Highness the Duke of Cumberland, attended by the Generals Ligonier and Sinclair, arrived here Yesterday, when his Royal Highness took a View of the Citadel, examined all the Fortifications, afterwards passed the Scheldt, and, in like manner, visited the Fort called la Tere de Flandre, and towards the Evening returned to the Camp. By the last Letters from Ghent we understand, that his Most Christian Majesty made his Entry there on the 18th, and took up his Quarters in the Episcopal Palace; that the M. de Saxe, who accompanied his Majesty, had his in the Abbey of St. Peter; that M. de la Faile was made Grand Bailiff of Flanders, in the room of the Baronne Kiefsegheem; who being made Prisoner in the Citadel of Ghent, had been sent with his Squadron, and all that was found of Value in that Place, on board several Flat-bottom'd Boats to Lille. Our Advices from Bruges acquaint us, that a Detachment of French Troops had taken Possession of that Place on the 18th in the Evening; and that the Scotch Fusiliers, who were in Garison there, had retired in time to Ostend.

Hague, July 27. The Publick Ministers of different Courts contradict each other daily as to the Prince of Conti's passing the Rhine. Baron de Reischach is positive that it was extremely precipitate, and that they have lost six or eight hundred Men; whereas the Abbe de la Ville asserts, he passed it in good Order, and without any Loss. We are, on the whole, a good deal disappointed; and there went not some private Advices, which say, that if Baron Berenclau had been sufficiently reinforced, the Thing had gone quite otherwise; but what we can never forgive, is their assuring us that those two Bridges at Rhine-Turkheim, over which the French actually passed, were taken by General Berenclau, who was never near them. His Royal Highness the Duke of Cumberland has transferred his Head Quarters, as our last Letters inform us, from Dieghem to Saventhem, and has fortified his Camp with Retrenchments and Redoubts. Oudenarde did not make such a Defence as was expected. The French Monarch has transferred his Head Quarters to Rooborst; the French have made themselves Masters of Damore, above Bruges, and of Fort Plussendaal, which is but one League from Ostend. An Express, which arrived about an Hour ago, brings Advice, that two French Corps of 10,000, and 8000 Men, are in full March for Ostend, with a good Train of Artillery; but as there is a Garrison of 2500 Men in the Place, which is naturally very strong, well provided with all Things necessary, and the Country under Water, we are not under any great Pain about its Safety. A French Captain was sent lately to the Governour of Sluys, to assure him the Subjects of the States General had no Reason to take Umbrage at the Approach of his Most Christian Majesty's Troops, since they had strict Orders to observe a punctual Neutrality; but it seems this has not at all dissipated the Fears of the People, who are carrying the best of their Effects into Zealand.

Remain the Prince George, Duke, and Bridgewater Men of War, the Baltimore and Hinchbrook Sloops, the Etna Fire Ship, and the Outward-bound as per list; with the King George, Whaley, for Dublin; and the Pretty Betty, Newham, for Yarmouth.

L O N D O N.

There are private Letters, from good Hands, at Amsterdam, which mention a Convention being concluded between the Queen of Hungary and the King of Prussia; which is agreeable enough the last Dispatches from Bohemia, Berlin, and Dreiden.

The Contributions for the Province of Brabant have been fixed at 900 Guineas per Month; and the City of Brussels has been a second time summoned, but without returning any Answer. The whole Contribution of Flanders levied by the French, amount to Three Millions.

On Saturday, about Four in the Afternoon, arrived the Hon. Capt. Montague, Commander of his Majesty's Ship the Mermaid, Express from Commodore Knowles, with the important News, that when all things were ready for a general Attack, the French Commander at Louisbourg beat the Chamade, and agreed to a Capitulation, by which we are become entirely Masters of the important Island of Cape Breton.

The Capitulation was signed the 14th of June; and on the 16th the Commodore was joined by Capt. Brett in the Sunderland, Capt. Hoar in the Canterbury, and Capt. Geery in the Chester; so that Mr. Warren has now seven Ships of the Line, besides Frigates and Sloops; and instead of apprehending, he would be very glad of the Arrival of the French Squadron from Martinico.

The Place was extremely strong; the Governor had 600 regular Troops, and 400 well-disciplined Militia; but Capt. Warren having taken another large Ship, laden with Ammunition and Provisions, and the Garrison being very much distressed, it was thought advisable to procure the best Terms they could.

On Friday last a Gentleman that went to Major Foubert's Riding-House to receive some Money, dropt down dead as he was writing the Receipt.

On Saturday Night last Mr. Turner, aged Seventy, of Brewers-Yard, Westminster, as he was going to Whitehall, a Chaise flung him down, went over his Head, and fractured his Skull, of which he soon expired.

Mr. Lowe and Sign. Avolio, will perform in Solomon at Ruckholt House this Day.

From the London-Gazette.

Boston in New-England, June 1. Five Days ago we had Dispatches from General Pepperell, who has the Command of the Expedition against Cape Breton, and Commodore Warren, the former of which advise, that he had raised a second Falcine Battery within two hundred Yards of the West Gate of Louisbourg, which had beat down the Drawbridge, and begun to make a Breach in the Gate and Part of the Wall; that he had hoisted the Union Flag in the Enemy's Light House, over-against the Island Battery; that the Enemy had bent their whole Force to drive them from the two Batteries erected against the West Gate, and had made a Sally against the Detachment posted at the Light-House, but were repulsed; and that a Prisoner informed them, that our Cannon and Mortars had done great Execution in the Town.

The Letters from Commodore Warren inform us, that he, in Company with the Mermaid, had taken a French Ship of War of 64 Guns and 560 Men, called the Vigilant, the Marquis de Fort Maillon, Commander, bound from Breff to Louisbourg, with a great Number of small Cannon and Ordnance Stores. That he had also, in Company with one of our Cruizers, taken a second Ship, with Provisions, bound from France to Louisbourg: That there was now a regular Blockade of Louisbourg, both by Sea and Land: And that he had put the said Vigilant into Commission for his Majesty's Service.

To which is prefixed the LIFE of the Author, newly compiled from Materials more ample and authentic than have yet been published. By Mr. OLDYS.

Sir WALTER RALEGH's History of the World is a Work of so vast a Compass, such endless Variety, that no Genius, but one adventurous as his own, durst have undertaken that great Design. I do not apprehend any great Difficulty in collecting and common-placing an Universal History from the whole Body of Historians; that is nothing but mechanic Labour. But to digest the several Authors in his Mind, to take in all their Majesty, Strength, and Beauty, to raise the Spirit of meaner Historians, and to equal all the Excellencies of the best, is Sir Walter's peculiar Praise. His Style is the most perfect, the happiest, and most beautiful, of the Age he wrote in; majestic, clear, and manly; and he appears every where so superior, rather than unequal to his Subject, that the Spirit of Rome and Athens seems to be breathed into his Work.
